POLICY ON POSTING OF CAMPAIGN RELEASES

The Information Age has generated unlimited ways for candidates, their supporters and their opponents to get their message to the voters. Recognizing those alternative avenues, thewheelerreport.com has adopted the following policy regarding posting of campaign releases.

Effective April 1, thewheelerreport.com will no longer accept individual documents from candidates, candidate committees, parties or organizations.

Items to be posted must be submitted as links to the websites of the candidates, campaign committees parties or organizations. If the item is not available on those websites, it will not be posted on thewheelerreport.com. More simply stated: If candidates and organizations are not willing to put those releases on their websites, thewheelerreport.com will not post them either.

Endorsements will only be posted when they appear on the website of the endorser and a link is provided.

Further, releases from or about individuals who are not formally-declared candidates or have not filed declarations of candidacy with the Government Accountability Board will not be posted. Again, simply stated: Just because someone is considering a run for public office does not make that person a target for attacks by potential opponents. Once announced, they will become fair game for the political hunt.

Exceptions to the policy will be made on a case-by-case basis without regard to political affiliation.

The previous policy of linking to newspaper stories related to campaigns, candidates and issues will continue.
