Allison Lee -Xello/Method Test Prep High School Student Scholarship

Milwaukee, WI- Allison Lee, a High School student, has been recognized as one of the 2019 recipients of the Xello/Method Test Prep High School Student Scholarship presented by the Wisconsin School Counselor Association. The Xello/Method Test Prep Scholarship recognizes high school senior students and the role their school counselor played in their high school success. Allison's application included multiple examples of school counselors helping her overcome a barrier or obstacle during high school and how counselors helped prepare her for her postsecondary path. Allison spoke highly of her experience with her school counselor, "She helped me in both academics and life, and I could not be more grateful. I can only hope that one day I will influence someone as she has influenced me."

Every February, the Wisconsin School Counselor Association recognizes students and individuals within the school counseling profession who demonstrated profound impact on the school counseling profession and lives of students. Applications for the Xello/Method Test Prep Scholarship are submitted to the Wisconsin School Counselor Association Professional Recognition & Scholarship Committee and are rated by committee of active and retired school counselors. The organization selects four individuals to receive this award. Award winners are recognized at the WSCA Annual Conference at Monona Terrace in Madison.
