Highlights from Kelda Roys' Stand Out Debate

MADISON, WI -- Kelda Roys' campaign spokesman Brian Evans issued the following statement after Kelda's commanding performance at last night's UWM Debate:

"One thing is clear after last night's debate: Kelda Roys is ready to move Wisconsin forward. Kelda's command of the issues and her detailed plans to improve the lives of Wisconsinites set her apart from the rest of the field."

The following clips illustrate why Kelda is ready to move Wisconsin forward:

- "I welcome any company, large or small, who wants to start here or grow here..."
- "The real threat to the public safety is the backlog of untested, rape kits that Attorney General Brad Schimel has sat on..."
- ["Right now, we're spending an ocean of money \[on our prison system\] - it is bankrupting us morally and financially..."](#)
- "We have to make investments that are not just going to create family-sustaining jobs, but companies that are actually going to grow in Wisconsin..."
- "We are not going to let our daughters go back to a time when abortion was illegal and a crime, and when women could not get the health care that they need."
- "If we want Wisconsin to succeed economically, we need to invest in our kids, and that means investing in our education system."
- "There are so many investments that we can make in Wisconsin's future to help this state move forward and become a place where everyone has the opportunity to succeed."
- "...I have a track record of actually turning our big ideas and progressive values into real results."

###

Kelda Roys, 39, is a small business owner, attorney, former state representative, and past head of NARAL Pro-Choice Wisconsin who has been standing up for women and families throughout her career. In the Assembly, she stood out as an influential and effective lawmaker, delivering results for working families and helping lead the opposition to Governor Scott Walker's divisive agenda. As a parent and step-parent of four girls, Roys will fight for paid family leave, affordable childcare, great schools, and quality healthcare for all. In a year in which Wisconsin voters are ready for change, Kelda Roys provides the clearest contrast to Scott Walker.
