Take the "Prettiest Drive" to the Great River Road Fall Festival

Cassville, Wis. – On September 22nd, join us at Stonefield for the annual Great River Road Fall Festival, a celebration of the historic Great River Road!

"The Great River Road Festival is the perfect family day out," said Susan Caya-Slusser, site director at Stonefield. "The festival will feature events and hands-on activities from life in the 1900's, including wagon rides, an antique tractor pull, sorghum making, broom making, and much more."

In 1938, President Franklin D. Roosevelt established the Great River Road along the Mississippi, following the river for nearly 3,000 miles through ten different states. Stonefield, a Great River Road Interpretive Center, celebrates the history of the Great River Road. See for yourself why the Great River Road in Wisconsin was voted the "Prettiest Drive" in America by the readers of the Huffington Post!

Date: Saturday, September 22

Time: 10AM-4PM

Location: Stonefield Historic Site; Cassville, WI

Visitors are also invited to the Saloon to wet their whistle with beer and root beer. Sandwiches and ice cream will also be for sale during the event.

The standard price of admission for Stonefield will apply: adults (18-64) $10; children (5-17) $6; seniors (65 & older) $9; children (0-5) and Wisconsin Historical Society members receive free admission. The event will be held during Stonefield's normal operating hours 10 AM – 4 PM. For more information visit stonefieldhistoricsite.org or call 608-725-5210.

About Stonefield

Stonefield comprises a re-created 1900-vintage rural farming village and the State Agricultural Museum, which traces the history of Wisconsin agriculture from its inception to the 20th century. Stonefield, named after the estate farmed by Wisconsin's first governor Nelson Dewey, also includes Dewey's home site.
