FarWell Maintains Rapid Growth, Lands Third Consecutive Inc. 5000 Award

(MADISON, Wis.)— Inc. Magazine honored FarWell in its Inc. 5000 list of the fastest-growing private companies in America for the third consecutive year. The flexible advisory firm helps companies succeed during times of rapid and complex change.

Experts in change strategy and implementation, process optimization and project management, FarWell helps clients leverage strategic changes to stay competitive. Common change scenarios include: mergers, acquisitions and reorganizations, technology modernization, changes to work processes and policies, entering new markets and business model changes.

“It’s an honor to be included for the third time on the Inc. 5000 list, alongside other incredibly innovative companies in the United States,” CEO and Founder Jason Potter said. “This recognition shows our continued dedication to helping our clients conquer the rapidly evolving business landscape while maintaining a high-level company culture.”

According to Inc. Media, only a fraction of the companies that have applied to the Inc. 5000 have made the list more than once, and FarWell is one of the 12.95% of companies that have made the prestigious list three times.

The Wisconsin-based company placed in the top half of the Inc. 5000 list for its 196 percent growth over the last four years. Founded in 2012, FarWell achieved $5.9 million in revenue in 2018 and now has more than 50 employees with a solid growth trajectory.

FarWell, which opened a Milwaukee office in March, has worked with area businesses such as MillerCoors, ABB and Leeward Business Advisors.
