Governor-elect Evers and Lt. Governor-elect Barnes Announce "What's Best for Kids" Advisory Council

MADISON – Today Governor-elect Tony Evers and Lt. Governor-elect Mandela Barnes announced their "What's Best for Kids" Advisory Council (Council), a group of leaders and advocates from across the state who will work with and advise the transition team on policies and issues affecting Wisconsin's kids.

"I've said from the beginning that what's best for our kids is what's best for our state, and that's why I've convened a group of stakeholders and advocates for kids who will help us prepare a budget and policy priorities that put Wisconsin kids and families first," said Evers.

The Council will advise members of Governor-elect Evers' transition team on policy matters relating to the Department of Children and Families, the Department of Public Instruction, the Department of Health Services, and numerous other state boards and policy initiatives focused on children and families.

"From fully funding public education at every level to expanding all-day pre-K statewide to increasing trauma-informed programming in our communities and our schools, the bottom line is that our kids have to be our top priority," said Evers. "Our 'What's Best for Kids' Advisory Council will work with our team to ensure we're improving the lives of Wisconsin's kids and families."

Governor-elect Evers' "What's Best for Kids" Advisory Council will join the more than 100 policy experts consulted by the transition team in preparing the state budget and policy initiatives for the incoming Evers Administration. Governor-elect Evers' "What's Best for Kids" Advisory Council members include:
