Taylor Calls on Schimel to Investigate All Leaks, Not Just Those He Doesn't Like

MADISON – Yesterday, Attorney General Brad Schimel announced he will convene a grand jury to investigate the release of 1,300 pages of documents to The Guardian. Importantly, AG Schimel is pursuing this leak while ignoring a previous leak to the Wall Street Journal. Rep. Chris Taylor (D-Madison) issued the following response:

“Is AG Schimel the Attorney General for the entire State of Wisconsin, or just for extreme right-wing activists? Once again, he has made clear he is only interested in investigating The Guardian leak, rather than investigating what The Guardian leak revealed – an unprecedented political scheme to circumvent Wisconsin’s campaign finance laws.

“While Democrats have called for the Ethics Commission to investigate this corruption, AG Schimel is using his own office to advance an extreme partisan agenda rather than siding with the interests of the people of Wisconsin.”
